TEXAS WOMAN'S COLLEGE

CONTRACT FOR BUILDING HAS BEEN AWARDED

TO J. S. HARRISON FOR $15,900.00

Waco Man, Who Built Baptist Church,
Agrees to Have Building Ready for Opening of School
September 12.

Architect Sam Fountain of the firm of Steele & Fountain of Houston, met with the board of directors of the Texas Woman's College at a meeting held yesterday evening, and bids for the first college building were opened and the contract awarded to the lowest bidder, J. S. Harrison of Waco, whose bid is $15,900.

The following bids were received: H. L. Lewis, $21,287; Parker Construction Co., Houston, $19,200; I. H. Newton, $19,000; J. R. Morin, Houston, $18,700; C. H. Winn, Houston, $18,200; J. H. Suttles, Houston, $17,897; S. E. Douthitt, Houston, $17,565; J. S. Harrison, Waco, $15,900.

Work will begin in about two weeks, and dirt will first be broken by George Byron Butler, Jr., with a toy pick axe. An appropriate program of exercises will mark the dirt breaking for the great institution, with music and with addresses by President H. H. Harrington of the A. and M. College, Judge J. W. Doremus, Dr. Geo. B. Butler and others. These exercises will be held on the beautiful college site in the southern part of town, and the people of Bryan and the county are invited to be present. The date—about two weeks hence—will be definitely announced later.

Contractor Harrison will order the material at once, and expects to have it all on the ground in thirty days. He guarantees to have the building ready for the opening of the next school term, September 12.

As heretofore announced the building will be a handsome two-story brick structure, 137x53 feet, having twenty-two rooms for dormitory purposes on the second floor, and a chapel, president's office, dining room, kitchen and eight class rooms on the first floor. The building will be supplied with all modern conveniences.

BATTLE OF BRICKBATS

Socialists Precipitate a Tumult at San Francisco.

POLICEMEN GOT BUSY

While Escorting an Orator to City
Hall the Car Being Utilized Is Literally Subjected to a Shower of Missiles.

San Francisco, April 9.—The fiercest riot San Francisco has witnessed in a generation was the sequel Sunday evening to a meeting of Socialists held at Woodward's pavilion as an expression of sympathy for President Moyer and Secretary Heywood of the Western Federation of Miners, imprisoned in Idaho on the accusation that they were implicated in the assassination of former Governor Stuenkel.

At the meeting some typically violent Socialistic speeches were made, in which it was declared that Moyer and Heywood were innocent and that in convicted they would not be hanged unless the entire United States army was brought in to assist in their execution. At the conclusion of the speechmaking a procession was organized and the participants in the assemblage marched down Market street, headed by a band. At the corner of Kearny and

CHARLES H. MOYER.

Market streets a halt was made, and one of the paraders, who carried a regular banner, climbed Lotta's fountain and affixed the emblem to the topmost lamp. The banner bore the inscription: "The Constitution be Damned; So Say the Corporations."

It was decided by the leaders to hold an out-of-door meeting and A. C. McGinty was selected to address the crowd. So great was the throng, however, that he could not make himself heard, and George S. Holmes, a metal worker with a powerful voice, was substituted as speaker. He was in the midst of his talk when Policemen Jack Stelzner and W. J. Cavanagh and Detective Thomas Ryan made their way through the crowd. Ryan tore down the red flag and passed it to Stelzner. Ryan then ordered Holmes to desist, but was met with a refusal, and the detective pulled Holmes down to the pavement. In a moment a riot was precipitated. Stelzner was knocked down and kicked in a vicious hand-to-hand fight, the crowd seeking to recover the flag. Ryan and Cavanagh came to his assistance and began beating back the crowd with clubs. The flag was torn from Stelzner's grasp, and Ryan, who had held Holmes all of the time, started to take his prisoner through the crowd, beating a path with his club. An electric car was passing and halted opportunely for the detective. He boarded it, and the other officers tried to keep the crowd back. Near the fountain a new building is being erected and the street is full of building debris. Almost instantly there was a shower of scrap-iron, brick and blocks of wood upon the car, and the missiles crashed through the windows, injuring a number of passengers. The motorman was made a target, but he slowly forced his car through the human blockade, and, gaining speed, ultimately reached the hall of justice. In the meantime alarm calls had been sent to the neighboring police stations, and patrolmen came hurrying to the scene. They found themselves confronted by a maddened crowd armed with sticks and stones, and for half an hour a lively battle was in progress, the police using their clubs with telling effect and the crowd retaliating viciously. Policeman Stelzner was struck several times by flying bricks and was cut in the neck and head. Policeman Doran was also bruised and cut, and Policeman Harry Seguire was seriously hurt. He was knocked down and kicked again and again, one of the blows striking him in a vital spot and incapacitating him. Seventeen of the rioters were arrested, three being charged with assault with a deadly weapon. The rest were booked at the prison as demonstrators. Holmes, the orator, was charged with disturbing the peace. It was fully an hour from the time that the trouble started before quiet was restored.

SERMON BY REV. H. C. WILLIS

Additions to the Methodist Church—The Quarterly Conference.

Rev. H. C. Willis, presiding elder of the Huntsville district, preached Sunday morning at the court house where the Methodist church services are being temporarily held. Rev. Willis preached a fine sermon from the text, "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation," a selection from the first chapter of James.

Following the sermon Dr. Betts received into the church the following new members: Misses Edna Crudginton, Katherine V. Miller, Fanny May Miller, Lena Yeager; Thomas J. Conway, Bruce K. Withers, Will T. Stallings. All were received by baptism except Miss Fanny May Miller and Will T. Stallings, who had previously received the ordinance of baptism.

At the quarterly conference held at parsonage Saturday night the following delegates were elected to the district conference which meets in Madisonville June 28: Prof. J. H. Allen, Prof. T. S. Minter, E. W. Crenshaw, Ed Hall; alternates, Prof. R. O. Allen, Dr. C. F. Andrews. Dr. W. H. Lawrence, secretary of the board of stewards, is an ex-officio delegate.

At a called meeting of the conference held previously, A. M. Waldrop was elected trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Capt. S. M. Derden, and the trustees were authorized to have the $2700 loan on the church building extended by the church extension board. The building committee was also formally authorized to rebuild the church.

COMPARED WITH CATHEDRAL.

Steamer Amerika One of the Mighty Ocean Travelers.

New York, April 9.—The steamer Amerika is one of the mighty ocean travelers. Stood on end and placed alongside of Cologne cathedral, one of the tallest of ecclesiastical structures, the vessel would tower above Germany's immense house of worship. She is truly a triumph of modern ship-building.

STEAMER AMERIKA AND THE COLOGNE CATHEDRAL.

SAVED BY PROFESSOR.

Promised to Deliver the Offending Negro to the Police.

Meridian, Miss., April 9.—The coolness of Professor J. W. Beason of the Meridian Female college prevented the lynching of a negro who shot Bracombe Farmer, a street car conductor. A mob of 100 men and boys located the negro and argued the mob into dispersing by promising to deliver the negro to the police. The shooting occurred over the refusal of the negro to pay fare for a twelve-year-old boy who accompanied him one the car. The conductor, it is believed, will recover.

INTO FOUR STATES.

J. Adam Bede Wants Them North, East, South and West Texas.

Washington, April 9.—Congressman J. Adam Bede will introduce in the house a resolution asking the judiciary committee to report on the proposition to divide Texas into four states—North, East, South and West Texas. Mr. Bede wants western representation increased, as this would mean six more senators.

The president nominated the following Texas postmasters: D. C. Ballouns, Seymour; H. I. Sommerville, Richmond; William Pillory, Wills Point; G. C. Rose, Wotham.

GREATER VICTORY.

Opposition to Government Increases Majority as Reports Come In.

St. Petersburg, April 9.—Belated returns increase the magnitude of the majority of the opposition to the government. Kurzk returns a solid Progressive delegation. Tula is the only province except Moscow which has returned a majority of Conservatives.

As the net result in the province of Moscow, the real heart of Russia, the latter sends to parliament comparatively unknown men—two peasants, a workman, Prince Gagarin, M. Bashoff, M. Krudner and Peter Struve. The latter is the most prominent, being president of the Moscow Bourse.

CLERGYMAN ACQUITTED.

Adjudged Not Guilty of Having Taken Life of His Wife.

New Albany, Ind., April 9.—Rev. U. G. Sutherland was acquitted of the charge of having murdered his wife. The jury was out from Saturday morning until Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Sutherland received the verdict with composure and was congratulated by a number of persons in the court, including several hysterical women.

Call For Condition.

Washington, April 9.—The comptroller of the currency has issued a call for condition of national banks at close of business April 6.

Cruiser Launched.

Tokio, April 9.—Japanese armored cruiser Ikoma of 13750 tons was successfully launched at Kure Monday.

Four Skating Rinks.

Taylor, Tex., April 9.—This city has four skating rinks.

BRIEFLY NOTED.

By mistake the infant girl of James McLaughlin of Trenton, N. J., was christened after her father, instead of Hazel.

Nearly 30,000 Salvation Army members celebrated at London Saturday Commander Booth's seventy-seventh birthday.

At Chicago James Grady is charged with beating his wife into insensibility and hurling her down stairs. She may die.

In an affray at Galveston between John Scott and John Copper, negroes, Copper was shot to death. Scott was knife slashed.

Governor Handley of Indiana refuses to pardon or parole ex-Auditor Sherrick, serving a penitentiary term for embezzlement.

In an address at New York Methodist Bishop McCabe asserted labor unions were controlled by 10 per cent of their members.

THE MASAI OF AFRICA.

A Queer Race Where the Men Become Old at Thirty.

The young men of that African race, the Masai, are all warriors, theoretically, between the ages approximately of seventeen and twenty-seven. When in this stage they are known in their own language as el moran. They pull the head hair out to its greatest length, even sometimes twisting and plaiting fiber and string into their wool. The hair is then thickly coated with mutton fat and red clay and tied into perukes. All hair on the face and body is plucked out by iron tweezers. The skin is kept constantly lubricated with mutton fat mixed with red clay, but as a rule the body is not disagreeably oily, and this lubrication only has the result of giving a beautiful polish to their statuette forms.

As regards the body there is probably no more beautifully formed type of man than the young Masai warrior. The face is sometimes in keeping with the body, but more often has a rather brutal aspect. The Masai are not pure negroes, but obviously received a very long while ago a slight infusion of Hamitic blood from races dwelling to the east of the White Nile. While they are in the young-man-warrior stage the Masai live principally on milk and on blood drawn from the veins of living cattle. They also occasionally eat the meat of oxen, goats or sheep.

When a Masai decides that he has had enough knocking about and has accumulated sufficient property on which to retire he decides to marry. This is usually about the age of twenty-seven to thirty. After marriage he shaves his head, or at any rate keeps the hair of his head very close cropped. He ceases to anoint himself with mutton fat and definitely ranges himself with the old men.

DOCTORS' FEES.

A Medical View of the Charges and Work of Physicians.

The law of supply and demand regulates medical compensation to a very great extent. It is a natural phenomenon, over which neither the professor nor the laity have much control. Where there are many physicians of equal ability competition grinds down the fees. If the income drops below living expenses the least successful leave the community or take up other means of getting bread and butter. The fittest survive, and in every locality the composition of the profession is in a state of constant flux—never the same from year to year and constantly regulating itself to the work to be done. When a man develops exceptional skill his services are demanded more and more. They are bid up by competitors on the other side. He is, indeed, compelled to raise his fees to prevent overwork, strange as that may seem. He would not be doing his duty by his patients if he tried to treat a hundred a day, and that many would crowd his offices if his fees were 25 cents. It is also a fact that a surgeon can do more now than ever before—a few can do wonders as compared with the surgeons of a century ago—and they receive more in proportion by the operation of natural law. How they gained this ability is immaterial to the question. Indeed, not all have ability to profit by fortuitous opportunities to learn surgery.—American Medicine.

Curious Belgian Competitions.

The Belgian artisan spends his leisure in a very novel manner. He breeds a special cock for crowing and that which can outcrow his fellows has reached the highest pinnacle of perfection. The modus operandi is to place the cages containing the roosters in long rows, for it appears that propinquity creates the spirit of emulation, without which the proceedings would fall flat. A marker appointed by the organizers of the show is told off for each bird, his duty being to note carefully the number of crows for which it is responsible in the same fashion as the laps are recorded in a bicycle race. The customary duration of the match is one hour, the winner being the cock which scores the highest number of points in the allotted time.

Cooly.

"Is 'cooly' the name of a people? It is believed to be. The word belongs to all the Indian vernaculars. Etymologists have been tempted to find its origin in the Tamil 'kuli,' which means hire, payment for menial odd jobs or the hiring odd job man himself, but it is pointed out in Dr. Murray's dictionary that when the word appears early in the seventeenth century it refers to a tribe of Guzerat, in the west of India, far from the Tamil speaking south—the Kuli, or Koli, who seem to have been often employed by Europeans as bearers and carriers.

Caustic Carlyle.

One day Thomas Carlyle went with Millais to look at the latter's house, and after gazing with wonder at all its splendours he turned to Millais and asked in his brusque manner, "Has paint done ill this, Mr. Millais?" The painter laughed and replied, "It has." "Then," rejoined the dweller of the modest house at Chelsea, "all I have to say is that there are more fools in the world than I thought there were."

It Wouldn't Be Right.

"Now, Susie," said the teacher, "if your father should agree to work for $2.50 a day and at the end of six days should bring home $13, would that be right?"

"No, ma'am," replied Susie, "an' it wouldn't take ma long to tell him so, you bet you!"

I st not mirth thy profession lest thou become a make sport. He that ha't but gaid the title of a jester let him assure himself the fool is not far off.—Quarles.

DOWIE MAKES SPEECH

Addresses Local Zionist Congregation at San Antonio.

DRAMATIC INCIDENT

Woman Who Had Been a Member of His Household Declared That a Kinder Husband Never Lived on Ear.h.

San Antonio, April 9.—Dr. Dowie and his party left San Antonio Sunday night at 8 o'clock on the Mexico special for St. Louis. The train was delayed for four and one-half hours, and this was taken advantage of by the local Zionites, who arranged for a meeting, at which Dr. Dowie was to speak. The meeting was secret in its nature, for the Zionites feared that if the general public became aware that the first apostle was to deliver an address and the hall would not hold the audience who would come to hear him. As it was, every seat in the local temple was filled fully an hour before the venerable leader was to make his appearance.
Previous to the coming of Dr. Dowie L. C. Hall, pastor of the local Zionist church, made a vigorous address, in which he defended Dowie at every point. Throughout his talk ejaculations of "Amen" and "Yes" and "God be with thee" were made by the audience. Preacher Hall made the statement that every man, woman and child in Texas who was connected with the Zionist movement endorsed everything that the "first apostle" had done, and believed thoroughly in his innocence.
"Even if the 'first apostle' has been guilty of every one of the charges which have been brought against him, Voliva and his henchmen have acted in an unchristianlike manner throughout the whole of this trouble," he said. "From out of this great turmoil Zion will arise regenerated and purified, and I believe, before my God, that the 'first apostle' will be vindicated and cleared of these malicious and cruel charges. If he is not, then may God demolish Zion. We are not a people of peace. We fight always for God and the right, and in this fight we will win."
A hymn was sung, and then the audience joined in a silent prayer that strength might be given the "first apostle" to overcome his enemies in Zion.
When Dowie entered the hall the audience arose and sang a hymn of praise as he walked down the center aisle, bowing and muttering, "God be with thee." For ten minutes Dowie and the audience prayed together for strength to banish the devil from Zion. Then Dowie told his story to the expectant people. His entire address was centered about the subjects of polygamy and the conduct of his wife.

The audience was with him in all that he said, even when he bitterly disparaged Mrs. Dowie. A dramatic incident occurred after Dowie had been speaking about twenty minutes, when Mrs. Anna Rapp and her husband rose up and faced the apostle. The audience craned their necks forward in intense expectancy.
"Have you anything to say, sister?" said the venerable leader.
"I lived in your home for a number of years, 'first apostle,' said the woman, "and I want to tell these people that never was there a kinder husband or a better Christian gentleman. I want to say also that while your every act was one of kindness and consideration to Mrs. Dowie, she made life miserable for you by her insane jealousy and flendish perversity. I often wondered how you could be so kind under the conditions that existed. I make this statement of my own free will because God has told me to speak."
Then Deacon Lewis and Deacon Peters arose and spoke of the unwelcome conduct of Mrs. Dowie, which they characterized as almost beyond human endurance. Throughout all of this testimony the audience sprinkled exclamations of "Amen" and "Yes, yes!"
Dowie closed with a passionate peroration in which he declared that so long as breath remained in his body he would fight for the rehabilitation of Zion.
"I haven't long to live," he concluded, "but I pray that God may spare me just long enough to win this fight. Then I shall be willing to go to that long sleep, knowing that I shall be eased to the last by the 'well done, thou good and faithful servant,' which will be uttered by all of my people, for they will have seen the light and learned that John Alexander, 'first apostle,' was chosen by God to give the word to Zion."
After the benediction the audience filed by Dowie and shook his hand, each reiterating an assurance of loyalty.
When Dowie returned to his hotel the special correspondent of the Associated Press presented him with the following telegram, which arrived while his followers were making their pledges of loyalty:
"At Zion City to-day everybody was for Voliva. Communicate this to Dowie."
Dowie seemed somewhat shocked at the bluntness of the message, but declared that it would be unwise for him to make any comments upon it at the present time, owing to the fact that it might betray his plan of battle.

Date For Second Conference at The Hague Not Satisfactory.
Washington, April 9.—The state department has suggested to the Russian government, through Ambassador Rosen, that the period suggested in the Russian note for the convention of the second The Hague conference, namely, the early part of July, would be inconvenient to America and to some of the other countries of this hemisphere which had expected to be represented.

Old Vesuvius, has been belching death and destruction again, but man, mortal man, who refuses to quit until you kill him, will be as close up as he can get a livelihood rebuilding his habitation as soon as the eruption stops and the lava gets cool.

Whether yellow fever has really appeared at Kenner, La., or not the report is a reminder that the season of the year has arrived when rigid sanitary regulations should be voluntarily observed or firmly enforced, and the Eagle hopes that Bryan will lose no time in getting in first-class sanitary condition and staying that way. This is important even if we have no yellow fever in the south this year for the reason that the general health of the community demands it, to say nothing of decency and civic pride. The writer has made no inspection of the town, and generally speaking it may be in very fair shape, but we have no doubt there is plenty of room for improvement. The weeds are growing and the mosquitoes are hatching. It is time to get busy and clean up. The Houston Post says: "We must avoid quarantines, if possible, and at the same time must not forget that the stegomyia breeds freely in this section of the State. By screening cisterns, oiling pools and removing and destroying filth of every description, it will not be difficult to keep the fever out of Texas."

The Houston Post cartoons the blanket primary as a cat coming back to the state house; and it will. The trouble with the cat was it made its first visit too soon—going to a special session of the legislature called for a specific purpose. Just what the outcome of the next tilt over this question will be remains to be seen. The indications unmistakably show a very strong demand for the blanket primary.

Stanley H. Watson, industrial agent of the H. & T. C., and Will H. White, photographer, are out for a trip over the line taking pictures to be used by the railroad company in advertising matter. The Eagle hopes they will visit Bryan. We have here some material that will compare favorably with anything to be found in any of the smaller cities of the state.

FUNERAL OF MRS. WALLACE.

The funeral service of Mrs. Frances Ellen Wallace were held at her late home yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in the presence of the family and a large number of friends. Dr. Butler, the pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the service, and paid a beautiful tribute to the life and christian character of Mrs. Wallace. His subject was "Blessed are the Dead Who Die in the Lord."

A long procession followed the remains to the Bethel cemetery, where the service was concluded and interment was made. Many friends from the country were also present.

IMPORTANT TO BRYAN.

Profit by This and Find Safeguard
Against Many Ills.

Nothing is more important to Bryan than the good health of her people. How can they fill their places in this busy town unless they are well?

No one trouble is responsible for more nervous ills, sleeplessness, general debility, weakness, backaches, rheumatic pains, even ill-temper and peevishness than indigestion.

Fortunately a combination of remedies, called Mi-o-na stomach tablets, has been discovered that absolutely cures indigestion and restores to health and strength the whole digestive system.

So reliable is Mi-o-na in curing all forms of stomach weakness and troubles that E. J. Jenkins gives a signed guarantee that the remedy will cost nothing unless it cures. Mi-o-na sells for 50c, and is invaluable to anyone who suffers with indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.

REVIVAL SERVICES BEGUN

At First Baptist Church by Rev. J. F. Hailey—A Powerful Gospel Advocate.

"My guns are pointed your way and I am going to shoot!"

This forceful sentence is taken from the introductory remarks of Rev. J. F. Hailey at the opening service of the revival begun Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the First Baptist church. Those who heard the sermon will attest that Rev. Hailey is prepared to make good. He is loaded to the muzzle with law and gospel, a deep thinker, strong reasoner and a direct and forcible speaker—a profound and seasoned veteran of many conflicts with the world, the flesh and the devil.

The services began with the splendid music which will be a feature of the meeting, and Dr. Butler made some timely remarks inviting the co-operation of all the Christian people of the town and country, and expressing the hope that the meeting shall result in a great religious awakening of lasting benefit to the community and to all the churches. He especially urged the people of his own church to attend the service and told them plainly if they did not do so, and had no valid reason for remaining away his faith in them would be destroyed—he would never again believe in them. This he said because he has been working a year on this meeting and expects great results from it, and the full co-operation of his own membership especially.

Rev. Hailey read scripture lessons from the forty-sixth chapter of Isaiah and the thirteenth chapter of Acts, and offered a fervent prayer. He then read from the first chapter of Ephesians, from the third to the fourteenth verse inclusive, and selected as his text the fourth and fifth verses, as follows:

"According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love: Having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will."

His subject was "God's Sovereignty, Along with Some of Man's Free Agency." He said he was not here to "work up" a revival; that he was here to present the gospel which is powerful to move mightily upon the hearts of the people who are willing to surrender their lives to Christ to be used by Him. If any sensational hullabaloo was started he would put on the brakes. He was not hunting a reputation, because that was not his mission, and he will retire from this work three weeks hence. Neither is Evangelist Martin, who will come later to take part in the meeting, a reputation hunter. He has engagements now extending into 1908.

Enlarging upon the text the speaker showed that God made his plans complete before He began anything we know about, which is foreordination. One of the things He has purposed is for you and I to choose our course. God restrains men from evil, but He never invades the sanctity of a man's will. God is a sovereign and has made His plans, and they are going to work regardless of what you and I do. Mankind is a mighty agency and as free as a bird on the wing except in one thing—regeneration. Take your stand at the cross and let God point out His plans and your difficulties will disappear. People who are doing their duty are not found objecting to God's plans. The elect are the whosoever-wills; yet there are those who will not accept God's plans. Repentance is an honest purpose to quit your sins. The Holy Spirit regenerates the man who repents and believes on Christ, who redeems him. After the processes of working out salvation comes adoption.

The aboveverse sentences merely outline the trend of the profound discourse which Rev. Hailey stated was briefly introductory to his work this week. The sermon was replete with forceful illustrations and made a deep and lasting impression. It was a sermon to make men think soberly and to draw them again to hear more.

At the Sunday night service the congregation filled and overflowed the large church building. Rev. Hailey preached another powerful sermon on "The Holy Spirit." A proposition to confess the Savior was made at the conclusion of the service and there was one conversion.

"Prayer" was the subject of the sermon at the 10 o'clock service yesterday morning, and the attendance was good.

Another large congregation was present last night and heard a forceful sermon on "The Christian Soldier, the enemies he must combat, and the armor he must use in the warfare." The sermon was addressed principally to the Christian people, most of whom present responded heartily to a proposition to put themselves into the meeting and work.

Services will be held regularly at 10 a. and 7:30 p. m. throughout the week.

GEO. STUART AT NAVASOTA.

Rev. George Stuart has been conducting a ten-days meeting in Navasota which will close tonight after stirring that town and country from center to circumference. There have been scores of conversions and reclamations, and everybody is talking about the meeting and attending the services. Excursions have been run on the railroads from surrounding towns and a number of Bryanites attended the Saturday night and Sunday services. Three services were held Sunday and the congregations were immense. The great revivalist is preaching along the same lines he followed here with such wonderful results a few years ago, and seems to be imbued with even greater power to sway his congregations at will.

John Collins, George Mawhinney, John Preston, Robert Tabor, Jr., Charley Adams, Neal McDougald, Bruce Reed, J. S. Smith, J. D. Martin and S. H. Allphin attended the Stuart meeting at Navasota Sunday.

Dr. G. W. Emory, who is recovering from his long and serious illness, was able to drive down town yesterday, much to the gratification of his many friends.

Stein-Bloch Clothes

The only reason why cotton is substituted for wool in mercerized fabrics is to cheapen the goods. A house is no stronger than its foundation. So with clothes. Cheap fabrics mean cheap clothes; and no matter how shrewdly they are tailored, they will be untrustworthy. Stein-Bloch employ no mercerized or cotton adulterated fabrics. Their goods are pure caustic-tested wool, and the clothes made from them wear and keep their shape.

The Stein-Bloch Wool Test

The Stein-Bloch Wool Test consists of a boiling solution of water and caustic potash, the chemical action of which dissolves wool but not cotton. The two samples here shown were originally of the same length, the test proved one to be all wool, consuming the part immersed and leaving only the blackened edge. The other proved to be an adulteration containing a large per cent of mercerized cotton.

DOWIE DENOUNCED.

Termed a Spendthrift, Liar and Traitor to His Trust and People.

Zion City, Ill., April 9.—In Shiloh tabernacle Sunday former Leader Dowie was denounced as a spendthrift, liar and a traitor to his trust and his people by Overseer Voliva. The latter called upon the 6,000 people present to say who shall be their leader. They arose as one person and signified their willingness to follow Voliva to the end.

When Overseer Voliva, accompanied by Mrs. Voliva and their little daughter, reached the meeting place it was filled to overflowing. On the platform were Mrs. John Alexander Dowie, Judge Barnes and Overseers Speicher, Excell, Cantella and Granger.

At the conclusion of a short prayer by Mr. Speicher, the newly appointed head of Zion, clad in a robe of simple white and black, a decided departure from the gaudy raiment assumed by the first apostle on similar occasions, announced in a calm and studied voice that he was going to take advantage of the meeting to tell them a few truths about the man who they had so faithfully followed for years. He told in the first words he uttered of the "perfidy of John Alexander Dowie." There was no one in the audience who showed more approval of his remarks than Overseer Jane Dowie, the wife for thirty years of John Alexander Dowie, and the mother of his three children.

When Voliva, in angry tones, exclaimed: "I will see that all the costly furniture and expensive library adorning Dowie's Zion City residence, and which were purchased by that hypocrite, while many of his people were in need of food, are sold and the money turned in the Zion City storehouse," Mrs. Dowie half arose from her seat and, with voice and hands, applauded the speaker.

Voliva requested all present to keep away from Dowie when he returned. "I don't want you to go to listen to his harangue," said Voliva. "If he should try any of his spectacular antics here we will put a stop to it." A large number of policemen were sworn in to support Voliva in his undertaking, and all the regular policemen took the oath of allegiance to Voliva except one.

Voliva stated that Dowie would not be allowed to enter even the door of what was formerly his home.

Ten Thousand Refugees Have Taken Refuge at Naples.

New York, April 9.—The Evening Sun published the following, dated Naples, April 9: Better news was received Monday morning from the villages about Mount Vesuvius, the violence of whose eruption Sunday spread panic throughout the region. Since Sunday evening the stream of lava that was moving toward Torredocal and Annunziata have been stationary and eruptions from the volcano less violent. ### WILL RETALIATE.

If Voliva and Council Are Arrested Dowie Will Fare Likewise.

Chicago, April 9.—A report was received in Zion City to the effect that John Alexander Dowie, on his arrival at Zion City, will cause the immediate arrest of General Overseer Voliva and members of his council on the charge of conspiracy. The rumor caused great excitement in Zion City.

Deacon Harrison, speaking for Overseer Voliva, said: "If Dowie carries out such a programme we are prepared to meet him in the same way. He will at once be served with warrants upon charges more serious than have so far been made public."

Preparations have been made to counteract any move that may be made by Dowie in the direction of causing arrests. Bonds have been prepared by officers of Zion church, so that it will not be necessary for them to leave Zion City.

Deacon Wilhite left Zion City Monday with $500, which he was asked by Dowie to forward. He declined to say whether he would take it to St. Louis or give it to Dowie on his arrival here.

DOWIE AT LONGVIEW.

Dowie passed the partly screened window several times, walking to and fro, and took his seat for breakfast and soon toasted bread and scrambled eggs rained out of window on the little group, followed by some liquid looking like water. The crowd scattered and a dog had a feast. A good-natured old negro, noticing the incident, came out of the car and explained that Dowie didn't mean to throw the food on those standing there. The negro refused to give any information, but admitted Dowie to be very nervous and irritable.

BABIES IN ARABIA.

Their Charms and Perfumes and the Shaving of Heads.

Life has exceptional difficulties for the babies of Arabia, especially for those who are of sufficiently high rank to be brought up according to all the ancient customs of their race. A royal baby's first toilet there consists in winding a bandage about its body after it has been carefully bathed and perfumed.

If the child be a girl, on the seventh day of her birth, holes, usually six in number, are pricked in her ears, and when she is two months old heavy gold rings are attached to them, to be worn throughout her lifetime except during periods of mourning for relatives. On the fortieth day the baby's head is shaved, and the disposal of the hair is regarded as a very weighty matter. It must not be burned or carelessly thrown away, but buried, thrown into the sea or hidden away.

The fortieth day marks a turning point in the child's life. Heretofore it has only been seen by few, but now it may be seen by anybody and is regarded as fairly launched on the tide of existence. Several charms are attached to its body for protection against the "evil eye." Everything the child uses is perfumed and covered at night with jasmine and before it is used fumigated with amber and musk and sprinkled with attar of roses.

THE MACHINIST.

His Work Ranges From a Needle to a Battleship.

"There is, perhaps, no other trade and very few professions," writes William Hadow in the Technical World Magazine, "that require the high order of intelligence, the study, the application, the real hard headed common sense, the surgeon's delicacy of touch, for instance, in fitting of fine work, that the machinist's trade demands to give the excellent work and the interchangeability of parts found in the modern rifle or sewing machine. The range of his work is from a needle to a battleship; from automatic machinery that 'would talk French had it one more movement' to measuring machines guaranteed not to vary more than the fifty-thousandth part of an inch from the absolute. This precision will perhaps be better appreciated when it is remembered that 150 times this limit of variation is only equal to the diameter of the average human hair. Standard plug and ring gauges, to take a specific example, are so accurately fitted to each other that the expansion due to the warmth of the hand, if the plug be held in it for a few moments, will make it impossible to insert the plug in the ring, while if the ring be expanded in the same way the plug will drop clear through it.

"When the machinist has become skillful enough to fulfill the above requirements he may receive from $2.50 per day up to whatever he can make himself worth and prove it."

OIL PAINTINGS.

With a Little Care They May Easily Be Cleaned.

Many a good picture that has looked dark and dirty for years from having been exposed to the dust can easily be cleaned and freshened in a very simple way. The picture should be taken from its frame and dusted carefully with a soft cloth. Peel a large potato and cut it in half, go over the whole picture with a sponge that has been dipped in tepid water, then with the flat side of the potato rub the surface of the picture with a light circular movement, being careful not to press too heavily on the canvas. The potato will soon begin to loosen the dirt and the colors underneath will begin to show brighter. When all the stains and dirt have been removed the picture should be sponged again in warm water, care being taken to wash off any starch that may have been left from the potato.

In case the picture is badly cracked as little water as possible should be used, as it is apt to ooze under the paint and do some injury.

Many oil paintings are injured by the dampness from the walls on which they are hung. The dampness is apt to cause the canvas to decay, and there are few canvases made to resist its attacks. To prevent this particular form of decay the back of the canvas should be painted when perfectly dry with white lead.

Maria Mitchell and the Beer Man.

Maria Mitchell, the famous astronomer, was once directed by her physician to use lager beer as a tonic. On the way to visit her sister, Mrs. Joshua Kendall of Cambridge, Mass., she stopped at a saloon and purchased a bottle of beer and afterward asked her brother-in-law to open it for her. The Mitchell family, according to the Boston Herald, spoke among themselves after the Quaker custom. "Where did thee get it, Maria?" questioned her sister. "At the saloon on the corner," replied Miss Mitchell serenely. "Why, Maria! Doesn't thee know respectable women don't go into such places?" "Oh," said Miss Mitchell, in the manner of one who has done all that could be required, "I told the man he ought to be thoroughly ashamed of his traffic."—New York Tribune.

Schoolboy Answers.

Here are some "howlers" of British schoolboys: "Chaucer," we are told, "wrote a middle class English;" "Every German goes to school at an early age, however old he is;" "An axis is an imaginary line on which the earth is supposed to take its daily routine;" "The Pharisees were people who liked to show off their goodness by praying in synagogues;" "A sower went forth to sow, and as he sowed he fell by the wayside, and thieves sprang up and choked him;" "The larynx is the voice box and shuts when we swallow it."

An Eagle's Bill of Fare.

The voracity of the eagle and similar birds of prey is well known, but the contents of a nest which was recently discovered in the Alps by a Swiss hunter show the following remarkable variety in the daily menu: A hare, twenty-seven chamolais' feet, four pigeons' feet, thirty pheasants' feet, eleven heads of fowls, eighteen heads of grouse and the remains of a number of rabbits, marmots and squirrels.—London Chronicle.

A Politician's Way.

Somebody suggests that the boy who ran away from home because he didn't get enough pie has the instincts of a great politician. Wrong. The politician would have stayed at home, stolen the pie and made his mother think she had eaten it herself.—Philadelphia North American.

The Waiter.

The Man Who Has Failed.

Even the man who has failed is entitled to consideration. He serves a noble purpose as an object lesson.—Chicago Record-Herald.

SLOT MACHINES.

They Were Used During the Time and Reign of Rameses.

A correspondent of the Boston Herald writes: "It is true there are few things new under the sun. 'Air beds,' or what we call pneumatic beds, were used by the Romans before the Christian era. The most remarkable duplication of an old invention is the nickel-in-the-slot machine. This was first used during the time and reign of Rameses, in the eighteenth dynasty of Egypt, for the purpose of supplying holy water, that which had been blessed by the priests, to the people who desired it. The machine was urn shaped, with a small cylinder inside, through which ran a rod connecting a valve at the bottom of the cylinder with one at the top. These were operated by a lever, which closed the bottom valve while opening that at the top, when the cylinder would fill with a fixed amount of water. To obtain the water a cup was placed at the outlet; a coin of three drachmae, equal to about 75 cents of our money, was dropped into the 'slot' on to a scale pan in the end of the lever. This opened the cylinder at the top and closed the lower valve, allowing the coin to slide off, the weight of water closing the top valve, opening the lower one and allowing the water to run into the cup. This is the basis of all patented slot machines of the present time and dates back to nearly 3,000 B. C."

Limited Bathing.

Dr. Somerville Hastings, lecturing at the London Institute of Hygiene on "Cleanliness is Next to Godliness," said that people were much cleaner now than in the reigns of Queen Mary and Elizabeth, when the washing of clothes was unknown. Cotton was hardly in use, and linen was expensive. The poor wore rough woolen garments, which were never washed, and the better classes adorned themselves with silks and velvets, which were dyed when they would no longer pass muster in regard to cleanliness. It is recorded, continued Dr. Hastings, that James I. never washed either hands or face during the period he posed as the wisest fool in Christendom, but confined his cleanliness within the narrow limits of wiping his finger tips upon a damp napkin.—London Telegraph.

Fishing For Sheep.

When sheep were first introduced into Cornwall, England, a flock which had strayed from the uplands on to Gwithian sands were caught there by the tide and ultimately carried into St. Ives bay during the night. There the floating flock was observed from the St. Ives fishing boats, whose crews, never having seen sheep, took them for some new kind of fish and did their best to secure them both by hooks and lines and by netting. Those they secured they brought home triumphantly next morning as a catch to which even plichards were as nothing.

The Servian Swineherd.

In any Servian village there is only one swineherd, and he leads all the pigs of the community. In the morning he goes through the streets blowing his horn, and the pigs come out of their own accord and fall in behind him and follow him to the pasture. At night he brings them home, and they disperse to their sties in the same orderly way as they pass the houses to which they belong. They require no attention and no singling out.

One Minute Cough Cure strengthens the lungs, wards off pneumonia and is a harmless and never failing cure in all curable cases of Coughs, Colds and Croup.

Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. I quickly secured a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure and gave her three doses half an hour apart. ## THE BACK WAY.

Balsac's Avenue of Escape From His Creditors.

In the year 1848 or thereabout, being worried by duns in Paris, Balsac took lodgings in Passy, then a village in the environs, at a house in the Rue Basse. There is little remarkable about the front of the house. It is just a plain, white, two storied French dwelling of a hundred years ago or of today for that matter.

But at the back is a garden and at the bottom of the garden is a doorway leading into one of the oldest lanes in the world, from the look of it. Truly this ruelle, with its crumbling walls of stone and plaster, its ivy and its shade of overhanging trees, is as happily devoid of suggestions of modern "improvements" as anything to be found within the girdle of the fortifications.

By means of this byway Balsac, when insistent voices from within the house reached his ears as he worked in his little pavilion at the end of the garden, could avoid the unpleasantness of an interview with any holder of the overdue bills which throughout his life were the only tangible results of his experiments as a printer and type-founder.

It needs but little imagination to see him hurry off down the lane, hatless and in slippers, to await events, while he dreams of exploiting the jewels of the Golconda or the silver mines of the new world.—W. H. Helm in Critic.

LAND OF THE PARIS CABMAN

Place to Which He Returns With His Savings to End His Days.

It is a peculiarity of Paris, which every visitor who knows enough French to tell one dialect from another must have noticed, that nearly all Paris cabmen come from the same part of the country. The same thing is true of coal merchants and of dealers in roasted chestnuts, who come from Auvergne; of the goatherds, who hawk their milk about the streets, who are Breton peasants, and of many other trades.

The cab drivers' land is probably little known to Englishmen. It is down in the Aveyron, and Rodez is its capital, a tiny village, where the worst language and the best hearts in all France are to be found. The eldest of each family in Rodez takes the land and the paternal cottage. The old folks live with him until their death, and the younger sons go to Paris and drive cabs.

For years they drive about in all weathers, scraping together sou by sou until they have garnered enough to go home and pay for their board and lodging for the remainder of their days. They go with the elder brother to a notary on the first day of their return home and sign a deed by which he is bound to keep them for the remainder of their days in idleness in return for their savings.—London Standard.

SELF CONTROL.

It Is One of the Perfections of the Gentleman.

A gentleman is gentle, slow to surmise evil, slow to take offense and slower still to give it. A gentleman subdues his feelings and controls his speech. It is sometimes said of a man that "he can be a gentleman if he wants to be," but a man who can be a gentleman when he wants never wants to be anything else, says the Pittsburg Press.

In the cultivation of courtesy self respect must play a prominent part. We must never pass for more than the value we place upon ourselves. To respect others we must first respect ourselves. Whittier said, "I felt that I was in the world to do something, and I thought I must."

One of the perfections of the gallant man lies in the supremacy of self control. Herbert Spencer, speaking of this important attitude of man as a moral being, said, "Not to be impulsive, not to be spurred hither and thither by each desire that in turn comes uppermost, but to be self contained, self balanced, governed by the joint decision of the feelings in council assembled, before which every action shall have been fully debated and calmly determined—that it is which education, moral education at least, strives to produce."

Odd English Customs.

England can boast of more quaint customs and ceremonies that have been handed down from century to century than any other civilized nation. The sounding of the mayor's horn at Ripon is one of the most ancient customs in the kingdom. It formerly announced the setting of the watch, but it has now lapsed into the formality of three blasts given at 9 o'clock every evening at the mayor's residence by his official horn blower and three more at the market cross.

Energy of Will.

Energy of will is the soul of every great character. Where it is there is resolute character; where it is not there is faintness, with effeminacy, despondency, neglect of duty and failure. "The strong man and the waterfall," says a proverb, "channel their own path."

His Retirement.

Friend—I haven't seen you for some time. Poet—No. Fact is I have become a good deal of a recluse lately. Friend—I feared so. How much do you owe?

One Redeeming Feature.

"What an idiot Stevens is, isn't he?" "Yes, but he has one redeeming quality—he's always telling you how well you look."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A Belated Apology.

Mrs. Talkwords—Henry, you were talking in your sleep last night. Henry—Pardon me for interrupting you.—Smart Set.

AN OLD LEGEND.

The Ancient Story of Lillith, Adam's First Helpmeet.

The old Talmudists had a queer legend concerning the first pair created by the Almighty. According to the story, Lillith was Adam's original "helpmeet" and Eve was the after consideration. The Talmud says that Lillith was created just as Adam was—out of the dust of the earth. Soon after the breath of life had been breathed into her ears (you will remember that the Bible says "nostrils" in Adam's case) her entire nature changed to such an extent that she became a veritable demon. About this time the devil came along, and, recognizing in Adam's wife all that was necessary to make a first class governess of the infernal regions, persuaded her to quit the first man and go with him into the "upper regions of the air." To us this seems like a queer place for the location of hell, but that is the direction the pair is said to have taken when they left Adam as the sole occupant of the garden. At home with the king of the sulphurous domain, she became the mother of devils and then deserted Pluto and became a "specter of darkness."

After this transformation her sole delight appears to have been in the destruction of innocent babes. It is even said that our word "lullaby" is a corruption of the oriental term, "lilla abi," which means "avaunt," or "begone, Lillith."

HORSESHOE NAILS.

The Way They Are Turned Out by Expert Workmen.

Three million separate shoe nails are often cast from a ton of metal. Of the smaller sizes 2,000 nails are molded in a single mold, and an expert workman will make eighty molds in an ordinary working day, thus turning out 160,000 separate nails.

When the metal in a liquid state is poured into the mold it runs through the sand in passages provided in the molding process. The whole of the nails are cast together and are, when removed from the sand, connected by a network of iron one with another. In this condition the iron is as brittle as glass, and very little force is required to separate the nails from the network which holds them together.

They then have to undergo the process known as annealing. They are mixed up with hematite iron ore, which is in a powdered state, put into iron pots and placed in an annealing furnace, a sort of kiln. Here they remain for some days, care being taken to so regulate the heat to which they are subjected that the iron will not be melted, but brought very nearly to that condition. The action of the raw iron ore upon the brittle casting is marvelous. After cooling it can be bent without risk of breaking, and it becomes a useful and serviceable article.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

Standing For a Seat in Parliament Is Expensive.

Although there are strict laws against bribery in the English elections, standing for a seat in parliament is by no means an inexpensive matter. Even a small constituency will cost not less than $3,000, and the expenses run from that up to $10,000.

At one election a candidate paid out on an average of $50 for each vote, but this is regarded as the record price, the cost running as low as $1 a head.

The purchasing of a vote disqualifies the candidate, even though he may be innocent of any participation in the bribery, and as a result candidates and their workers—"agents" they call them in England—are most careful that their actions shall be above suspicion.

Dinners may be served a constituency, but payment even to the women of a family is regarded as bribery, and the candidates are compelled to trust to speeches, horse to house canvasses and literature, both for hand distribution and in the form of posters.

The Unsatisfied Bachelor.

"I have not married so I may have a quiet life," said the bachelor. "Had I married a good wife I would have been afraid to lose her; a bad one, I would have been unhappy. Had I taken a poor girl we would have lived wretchedly; a rich one, and she would have had cause to taunt me with her money. Had she been ugly I could not have loved her; beautiful, and I would have been eternally jealous. Therefore I have not married, and yet life is a nuisance."—New York Press.

The Lion's Share.

It is really not the male lion, with his terrific roar and formidable appearance, that the explorer fears, but his mate. The male lion is a good looking posser, but when it comes to business it is his wife who counts, a la the African native. Game is pulled down by the female lion, and then the male beats her off until he has feasted to repletion, when she may have what is left; hence "the lion's share."

An Eye to Business.

"I thought, Alice, that you were engaged to Harry Smith, and now I hear you are going to marry his father." "That's right, Maude. The old gentleman said he could support one of us, and I decided to be that one and took the widower."

The Great Day.

Dreamy Youth—Have you noticed that there are days when we seem more in accord with the world—more in unison with nature? Practical Youth—Yes; it is always that way with me on pay day.

Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience.—George Washington.

ALPINE AVALANCHES.

These Deadly Snowslides Are Often Started by a Sound.

There are many kinds of avalanches. There are the powdery avalanche, the creeping variety, the glacier avalanche and others. When the sun strikes upon the illimitable snow fields and the snow begins to move the mass in its descent gathers weight and force, tearing away enormous rock masses and millions of tons of soil, until at length, with a noise like thunder, it expands its fury on the level floor of a valley where defenseless villages may be.

A great avalanche of this kind has an invisible forerunner almost as destructive as itself. This is the terrific hurricane caused by the air it displaces. It is no common sight to see giant trees uprooted, broken and twisted, the boughs wrenched from the trunk, leaves and needles clean stripped from the twigs and the very tops wrenched from a larch forest before ever the avalanche itself has struck the wood.

It is on still days when a lighted candle will hardly flicker in the icy air that the danger is greatest. The snow has been falling quietly yet heavily for several days and has settled on precipitous slopes above the village to an immense depth. It needs but the slightest and almost imperceptible cause to set it in motion. Had the wind been blowing it would never have amassed to such depths, but would have slipped down in lesser quantities. On such days the postillon muffles the bells of his team; the father will chide his child for slamming the door. Three enormous avalanches were once started in Switzerland merely by the sounding of the "Visti," or the first bell for church service. A bird alighting, an icicle falling from a rock—and the monster begins his downward rush. Villagers sometimes try to bring down avalanches at an advantageous time by firing off guns or even by shouting.—Woman's Home Companion.

LOOSE TEETH.

Sometimes They Are the Result of Nervous Troubles.

He was an honest dentist, and no one could have accused him of tinkering with a sound molar unless it actually needed attention. When the handsomely gowned woman patient came to him and complained that her teeth were getting loose and she was afraid she would lose them he gave her some good advice and charged her nothing, although it was worth a good stiff fee.

"There is nothing in the world the matter with your teeth," he said. "Each one is as sound as a new dollar. But you should consult a nerve specialist. Evidently you have been worrying a great deal lately."

The woman confessed that she had. Her sister had been very ill, and she had been compelled to help nurse her.

"Quit it unless you wish to lose your teeth," commanded the dentist. "Also you should put yourself under the care of a physician. In some nervous diseases the outward symptom is a shrinking of the gums. This is not an unfailing sign, however. Some persons lose their teeth through a shriveling of the gums on account of an excess of uric acid in the system. If they drank plenty of water the trouble would disappear. I have had several patients whom I have cured simply by getting them to drink plenty of water."

"The gums are pretty good indicators of the general health. Persons whose gums bleed frequently think there is something the matter with their teeth. The trouble is constitutional instead of local. A good tonic would put them on their feet, and this, accompanied by plenty of exercise in the open air, would stop the bleeding of the gums."—New York Press.

An Egyptian Delicacy.

Every country has its own little delicacies, and Egypt is famous for its kabobs. The kabob is broiled meat, but is broiled in so ridiculous a fashion as to be really funny. The peddler uses a little charcoal furnace, something like that in use by our plumbers. In it he keeps up a small but hot fire. Attached to the side of the furnace are a lot of iron skewers. When a customer approaches, the hawk takes a small piece of meat, mutton or goat, the latter being the most popular, cuts it with a sharp knife into a long ribbon, winds it around the skewer and places it upon the charcoal fire. Some of the drippings are collected and, with a little salt and spice, make a pleasant sauce for the kabob when it is done.

A Ghost Story.

A London daily tells a short modern ghost story. A man was traveling on a northbound train out of London. Opposite him was a silent stranger, his only companion. Between London and Derby no word passed. Then, as the train drew out of Derby, he said pleasantly, "Good line, this, sir, eh?" The stranger replied, "I think it's a beastly bad line. I was killed on it two years ago."

Business Methods.

"May I ask if I am in the market for a bid for your affections?" asked the youth who did everything in a businesslike way. "You must go to par before I can take any stock in your offer," answered the dutiful broker's daughter.

A Change.

"Well, well! There goes Miss Strong. When I saw her last she was posing as a bachelor girl. That's her hobby." "All that's changed now. She dropped her hobby for a hubby."—Exchange.

VALUE OF SEAWEEDS.

The Use of Irish Moss as a Food and a Medicine.

Irish moss is used as a foundation for many desserts in the dietary kitchens where especial dishes are prepared for invalids. An authority on the question of seaweeds states that scurvy, the dread of sailors, caused by the absence of potash in the salt meat which forms a part of every ship's provisions, would be ameliorated by the liberal use of sea moss jelly, which is rich in potash. Irish moss has always a place in the medicine chest of the old fashioned housewife, who pins her faith to its healing properties for colds, sore throats, etc. On the coast where the moss is gathered and also in the majority of Irish families the moss is boiled, strained, boiled again with lemon juice and sugar, until it is of the consistency of sirup. It is taken hot, a teaspoonful at a time, and is said to be a very good remedy for the maladies referred to. The Indians use the ashes of seaweed for granular swellings. It is also used by the Chinese, and so highly is it prized by them both as a medicine and a food that it is gathered in some parts of the Pacific coast, principally at Monterey, and sent back to China.

The supply of seaweed of every description seems inexhaustible, as that pulled or reaped from the rocks is replaced by another and a more luxuriant growth the following year. On the Atlantic coast it is harvested only during the months from June to August, but at Monterey it is gathered every day all the year around.—Leslie's Weekly.

UNDER A HAYSTACK.

The Scene of a Famous and Eventful Prayer Meeting.

The most famous prayer meeting ever convened in this country was held in the summer of 1806 on the grounds of a farmer adjacent to Williams college, Williamstown, Mass., says Leslie's Weekly. It was held by five students. They were querying what they could do for the benefit of mankind. A thunderstorm occurred, and they took refuge under a haystack and continued the meeting. Seemingly the students alone for the time being knew of the meeting. For years the place was unmarked and the event uncommemorated. But those students originated the foreign missionary movement in this country for the benefit of all lands and peoples. Subsequently Williams college acquired the property, named it Mission park and erected a monument commemorative of the great result. It consists of a shaft of granite twelve feet in height, bearing a globe three feet in diameter, representing the world. The legend on the shaft is, "The Birthplace of American Foreign Missions." Underneath are the names of five students who had a part in the meeting—Samuel J. Mills, James Richards, Francis L. Robbins, Harvey Loomis and Byram Green. This memorial is an object of interest to every visitor to Williamstown, and at every commencement a religious service is held beside it.

Puzzled.

"Are you the proprietor of this restaurant?" said the man who had waited for his order until he became sleepy. "Yes, sir. What can I do for you?" "You can give me some information. I want to know whether you have told the waiter to stay away so that you can bring in a bill for lodgings against me?"
